

Post Incarceration Life Skills in Housing Services – Best Practice Series Workshop

This in-person workshop will cover how to address housing stability for individuals exiting the criminal justice system. More specifically, it will look at challenges and barriers people in this position are often made to face. For example, how to go about obtaining a records suspension.

During the workshop, we will also look at some of the ways for overcoming these barriers and what we can do to make services more responsive. The second half of the session will focus on enhancing our approaches for working with people leaving incarceration; we will cover harm reduction, as well as reviewing services available that cater to this population and their unique housing and support needs. Participants are invited to engage with these topics during an interactive and collaborative session.
